

Companies who have abandoned the use of E171 or who are in the process of its abandonment since 2016 in France

Brands

Retailers

Agir pour l'Environnement – 2, Rue du Nord – 75018 PARIS - Tél. 01 40 31 02 99
 Agir pour l'Environment is a French independant environmental NGO working on various campaigns :food, climate change, biodiversity, nanomaterials, agriculture...The association counts 20 000 members and 500 000 followers.
 contact@agirpourenvironnement.org - www.agirpourenvironnement.org

In 2018 the members of the National Union of Confectionery (Syndicat National de la Confiserie) committed to stop using E171. This union represents 97% of the confectionery market.

In December 2020, Agir pour l'Environnement identified only 27 remaining products containing E171 on the French market. More info on : infonano.org

"This product does not contain E171 anymore" indication mentioned on the famous "Têtes brûlées", candies produced by Verquin

In 2016, the "Mars company committed globally to phase out titanium dioxide in all its brands by 2021 : M&M's, Freedent, Airwaves, Skittles...

Agir pour l'Environnement – 2, Rue du Nord – 75018 PARIS - Tél. 01 40 31 02 99

Agir pour l'Environment is a French independant environmental NGO working on various campaigns :food, climate change, biodiversity, nanomaterials, agriculture...The association counts 20 000 members and 500 000 followers.

contact@agirpourenvironnement.org - www.agirpourenvironnement.org